World Premiere: DREAM BOAT documentary to screen at Berlin Film Festival

Description

Posted by Larry Gleeson

World Premiere of DREAM BOAT

by Tristan Ferland Milewski

Official Selection â?? Section Panorama Dokumente Berlinale 2017

eteros and women that usually remains a AT sets sail for a cruise exclusively for gay life authentically as themselves in a protected place: Dipankar from India escaped an arranged marriage and now throws himself into the action to find his dream man. But the gay communityâ??s ideal of masculinity increasingly becomes a tight corset for him. Ramzi from Palestine was persecuted by the police in his home country, Palestine, for being gay and had to start a new life in Europe with nothing. The Frenchman Philippe was let down by his family when he was bound to a wheelchair. The more important is his long-term relationship with his partner, and his gay substitute family. Martin from Austria enjoys the hedonism and abundant choice of men to the full and gives perspectives on how to deal with HIV today. Marek from Poland, has everything he needs to stand out on the menâ??s market, thanks to his trained body. However, he feels lonely in the crowd. Now the countdown is on for seven days of hunting for freedom, love, and happiness â?? but on board are also their personal stories, their doubts and uncertaintiesâ?¦
