The Venice Film Festival for university students

Description

Posted by Larry Gleeson

Furthering the interest that the Biennale shows for participation of the young in all of its artistic sections, the Venice International Film Festival will receive requests for accreditation from University ad even if they are not attending courses in the theory and history of film.

The accreditation for University students may be requested by Italian and foreigner students of any faculty from 4th April to 31st May 2017.

The accreditation will be valid for the 11-day duration of the Festival (30th August to 9th Sept.) and will allow access to some 200 screenings reserved for accredited visitors and including films in the official line-up (selected screenings as long as seats are available).

The accreditation for University students also allows to have:

â?? a discounted price on the Venice Film Festivalâ??s catalogue
â?? discounted prices for tickets of the 57th International Art Exhibition (Giardini and Arsenale, 13 May â?? 27)

Early bird fee: 40 Euro
The request must be made no later than 31st May and the payment no later than 30th June 2017

Registration fee: 80 Euro

Deadline: Tuesday 15th August 2017

Submit request here!
