3rd Annual Rich & Successful Film Festival Announces Official Selections (September 20-21)

13 short films from the top rising filmmaking talent in Los Angeles set to screen at the Historic Egyptian Theatre

Half-Light, Baggage, The Jennifer Meyers Story

Los Angeles, CA (August 8, 2024) LA's Rich & Successful Film Festival 3 (RSFF 3), presented by Topcat Management, and co-presented by sogbots and the American Cinematheque, announced the lineup of films set to be presented on September 20-21. The highly curated film festival will feature 13 short films, spanning several genres, all helmed by Los Angeles-based filmmakers. For the first time, RSFF will take place at Los Angeles's historic Egyptian Theatre (6712 Hollywood Blvd.).

Additional workshops and events will be held on September 19-20 as part of the festival's program and directive to assist in the discovery, development, and promotion of upcoming filmmakers who make their home in the heart of Hollywood. All Official Selections, as well as some additional films not included in the screenings at the Egyptian Theatre, will be featured in RSFF's digital catalog, which is distributed to festival attendees and industry professionals for additional exposure.

RSFF Festival Directors Nir Liebenenthal, Noah Morse, Jeremy Roth-Rose, Dylan Trupiano, and Page Brady said, "As we head into our 3rd year, we're excited to add new opportunities to RSFF's programming—including skill development workshops, live entertainment, and new spaces to connect with other filmmakers. Providing thoughtful education and resources to our community is extremely important to us, and we're thrilled to be able to showcase these 13 short films in such an iconic film establishment at the Egyptian Theatre."

Peas, Rat!, Tennis, Oranges

Making its world premiere at RSFF will be Maky Rupert's Peas, a coming-of-age story about a young girl seeing her mother go on a date for the first time since her father's death. An Nguyen's Thru The Wire will make its North American Premiere when it screens at the Egyptian Theater. The film follows a chronically online and socially inept teenager as she meets up with her online bestie for the first time.

Order For Pickup, Creating Things, Confessions

Other short films highlighting promising filmmakers include Tennis, Oranges, directed by award-winning stop motion animator Sean Pecknold; Rat!, a genre bending horror-comedy from Neal Suresh Mulani starring Caitlin Reilly and Tyler Joseph Ellis; Jackie Zhou's Order For Pickup, developed through Hillman Grad's "Rising Voices" initiative that depicts burnout through a surrealist lens; Creating Things, a heartfelt documentary from brothers Bryan and Taylor Simpson that explores the legacy of their father through his art; and Stephanie Kaznocha's award-winning Confessions, a heartfelt comedy following two nuns who ponder what their futures hold.

This year's edition of RSFF was curated by a unique jury comprising alumni filmmakers, junior executives, and seasoned programmers. The jury will include Festival Directors Page Brady, Nir Liebenthal, Noah Morse, Jeremy Roth-Rose, Dylan Trupiano, Producer, and former Sundance programmer DaManuel Richardson, Slamdance award-winning director Yuchi Ma, RSFF 2 alumni Tiffany Lin, Producer and former Slamdance programmer Jake Rotger, and Imani Davis on behalf of the American Cinematheque.

Country: USA, Running Time: 3:18 min

In the midst of an ordinary skatepark afternoon, Rezaâ??s world transforms as he embarks on the first steps of what could be a beautiful journey, all set in motion by an awaited encounter.

About the Rich & Successful Film Festival (RSFF)

Founded in 2021 by sogbotsâ??a production company run by Nir Liebenthal, Noah Morse, Jeremy Roth-Rose, and Dylan Trupianoâ??and joined the following year by Page Brady as Lead Producer, RSFF curates a slate of short films by LA-based filmmakers across all genres. Focus is placed on the attending filmmakers at the festival, who find themselves in a supportive and hyper-engaged atmosphere where films are devoured, relationships are fostered, and talent is discovered in an atmosphere surrounded by both emerging talent and the industry mainstays looking for them. A non-competitive festival, RSFF instead emphasizes the platforming of its selected films and filmmakers, as well as providing exclusive workshops, panels, and sponsorships to hopefully, pave the way for even more creative collaboration. Additional support can also come by way of sogbotsâ?? Fix it in Post Fund, which awards select filmmakers with post-production funding for their shorts.
